

Talaq Gadban (Divorce in Anger)♦

An important topic among the topics of 25th Fiqhi Seminar held at Badarpur Assam on February 5 to 7, 2016 is Talaq Gadban. It means what is the ruling of the divorce given in the state of anger? After a long discussion and deep thinking, the participants of the seminar conclude the following:

1. Marriage is a relation which Shariah wants to be long lasting. Most hateful among the lawful acts in the Shariah is divorce which can be taken into practice only at the time of need. So, a husband should keep control on his heart and mind when he moves to anger and should not utter the word of divorce.

The divorce given in the state of anger will take place. But, if the husband, owing to anger, goes crazy and his state of mind gets lost and he does not know what to do or speak then, in this condition, he will be declared frenzied and divorce given by him in this condition will not take place.
